

Custom Blending

The primary focus of Pacific Blends Ltd. is the custom blending of quality food ingredients for other food processors. Our aim is to work hand in hand with you, our customer to create unique innovative products specially suited for your specific manufacturing needs.

Variety

We offer a wide variety of blends for food manufacturers across a wide range of products. In addition to a broad range of stock formulas, we will also develop formulations to suit specific needs or work with an existing formulation you have already developed.

Product Consistency

By manufacturing large batches of your specially blended product, we help eliminate the possibility of batch to batch variations in your product. Each package processed by Pacific Blends contains a uniform blend of product which conforms to your specifications.

Saves Time

By purchasing a custom blended product, you will save time in your own production system. Since the raw materials come pre-assembled, you no longer need to spend the time to prepare individual raw materials before production. Pre-assembled products come straight off the shelf and into your manufacturing with minimal additional handling required.

Unitizing

Pacific Blends Ltd. offers the service of unitizing products. We can produce any pack size from 100 g to 1000 kg, and can tailor the packaging to your plant's specific production need. By unitizing pre-assembled products to your exact production requirement, you completely eliminate the requirement for pre-production handling of the product in your plant.

Inventory Reduction

By purchasing your raw materials in pre-assembled units, you are able to reduce both your raw material inventory and your raw material storage space. Instead of purchasing a number of individual ingredients, your requirement is now to purchase and store only the pre-assembled unit. You will also be protected from your production being shut down due to being out of stock on a single ingredient.

Confidentiality

Pacific Blends ensures the highest level of confidentiality to all customers. Any custom formulation development work completed is done on a customer by customer basis and will be treated with a strict level of confidentiality
